

The project will be in one of the areas of research in our lab, which focus on the biomechanics of animal locomotion. In particular, Insect flight biomechanics involving flight control, wing functional morphology, energetics, and flight in 1mm size insects.